

Order Contempt Action For Beck Jr.

Action Also Sought Against Beck's Nephew

Proceedings are Ordered After 5th
Amendment Invoked

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman John L. McClellan of the Senate Rackets Committee today ordered contempt of congress action against the son and nephew of Teamsters President Dave Beck.

McClellan ordered contempt proceedings started by the committee staff after a fruitless questioning of Dave Beck Jr. and Joseph McEvoy, Beck's nephew by marriage, on their relations with the Teamsters Union and its payroll.

Beck Jr. invoked the Fifth Amendment 130 times in refusing to tell committee investigators whether he got nearly $65,000 in salary and expenses from the union.

McEvoy invoked the Fifth Amendment 90 times on similar questions. Both men refused to say even whether they knew the senior Beck.

"Such Flagrant Abuse"

McClellan told the two bawky witnesses that he doubted that "the Founding Fathers... ever conceived such flagrant abuse would be made" of the Fifth Amendment "as has been made of it since this committee started its hearings and particularly today."

He said that if the courts sustain the right of the two witnesses to invoke the Fifth Amendment to many of the questions asked them today, "then America faces a great danger" and law enforcement could "break down."

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.), a committee member, predicted that the committee would vote a contempt citation and that the Senate would approve it.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-N.C.) commented that "if the Fifth Amendment didn't have a lot of vitality, it would have been plumb wore out today."

If the committee recommends contempt citations and the Senate votes them, they will go to the Justice Department for prosecution. Maximum penalty upon conviction is a year in jail and $1,000 fine.

Young Beck had refused to say whether he knew his father—"on grounds that it may incriminate me."

Smoking and Higher Death Rate Linked in Final Report on Four-Year Study

NEW YORK (AP)—Cigarette smoking and premature death were coupled today in the final report on a massive four-year statistical study of 188,000 male smokers and non-smokers conducted by the American Cancer Society.

Death rates from all causes were higher among the smokers than among the non-smokers. The rates rose consistently in proportion to the amount of smoking.

Among men who smoked one-half pack—10 cigarettes—a day or less, the death rate was 34 per cent higher than among non-smokers. Among smokers of one-half to one pack a day, it was 70 per cent higher; among one to two-pack-a-day smokers it was 96 per cent higher, and it was 123 per cent higher for men who smoked two or more packs a day.

The report was presented by Drs. E. Cuyler Hammond and Daniel Horn at the annual meeting of the American Medical Assn. here.

The statistical rundown showed that 10 times more smokers than non-smokers had died of lung cancer during the first-year period of the study.

The death rate from heart and circulatory diseases was 70 per cent higher among smokers than the rate statistically expectable among non-smokers.

Deaths from lung diseases other than cancer were three times more numerous among cigarette smokers than among non-smokers, and deaths from pneumonia and influenza were almost four times higher.

The report also found that male smokers were seven times more susceptible to death from cancer of the esophagus, larynx, mouth, tongue and the back of the throat than non-smokers. As for stomach ulcers, 51 men of the 188,000 studied died from this cause, and all were smokers, 46 of cigarettes, two of pipes, two of cigars and one of both pipes and cigars.

Hancock Says Liking People Helps Make Success of Painting

"I feel sorry for artists who draw up in a shell and figure people ought to come to them—that the world owes them a living."

That's what Harold Hancock, showing his art work at Myrons, said yesterday.

Harold, former local young man, said the secret of his making a financial success out of painting was that he likes people, knows nearly everybody and does a lot of mixing.

"When you're around people all the time and are talking about your work, people want to buy your pictures."

The artist always has liked and mixed with people. Harrisburg residents who recall him will admit. Starting as a small boy, Harold made the rounds selling magazines and even at an early age was quite a mixer.

Leave for Visit to Mexico

At Myrons he is showing fourteen of his pictures and they're attracting a lot of attention. But he won't be around to talk about them because he, his wife, Thelma, and their four children, Mike, 16, Michelin, 14, Melita, 10, and Mark, 8, left today for a month's visit to Mexico, where they will relax and Harold will do some painting.

The family resides in a beautiful nine-room stone and wood ranch house, air-conditioned throughout, and designed by Mr. Hancock himself, at Greensburg, Indiana, which is midway between Indianapolis and Cincinnati.

The son of F. J. Hancock, who was a Harrisburg barber, and Mrs. Hancock, he was graduated from Harrisburg Township high school in 1929. His parents left Harrisburg in 1943 when Mr. Hancock took a job in a war industry plant at Evansville and the two still reside there. Mr. Hancock having returned to the barber trade.

Married Harrisburg Girl

Young Hancock married Thelma Edwards of Harrisburg the year after he was graduated from high school and they lived here until 1946. He was in business for himself from the outset, doing chiefly sign painting and some art work.

"First art work I did for money," he recalled, "was painting an oil mural at the Harrisburg country

Re-Elect Crebs, Two Republicans Win In 2nd Dist.

By United Press

Illinois voters returned a majority of Republicans to circuit court judgeships in 20 downstate circuits and Democrats split Cook county in statewide judicial elections that went largely as expected.

On the basis of nearly complete but unofficial returns, Republican candidates in Monday's election captured 54 judicial seats and Democrats 9 downstate. Cook County elected 10 Republican and 10 Democratic judges.

The total of 83 judges elected was a record high as the current state Legislature created three new circuits which elected judges for the first time and added a fourth judgeship in three circuits.

One Supreme Court judge, Chief Justice Ray L. Klingbiel, East Moline, was elected without opposition to a nine-year term in the 14th district. He originally was elected to fill a vacancy in 1953.

In the 2nd District, two Republicans and incumbent Caswell Crebs, who was endorsed by both the Democrats and the GOP, were elected.

Republican Roy O. Guley, Benton, collected 18,878 votes and his running mate, Randall Quindry, Fairfield got 17,581. Their Democratic opponents were James Karber, Ridgway, with 13,701 votes, and Robert Hill, Benton, with 14,324.

Anderson Strader Remains Cheerful Even After 11 Years in Hospital

It has been 11 years since Anderson C. Strader was taken to a Harrisburg hospital following a fall of some 40 feet while working on a building near the Harrisburg city limits.

And despite the fact that a hospital has been home since that day—June 4, 1946—Mr. Strader is one of the most cheerful men in Harrisburg. A quick, warm smile greets visitors and a firm handshake and a sincere "God Bless You" gives the departing visitors a feeling that it was good to visit with this man.

Eleven years ago, near the end of the working day, Mr. Strader and others were repairing some building at the west city limits of Harrisburg. Walking near the peak of the roof, to give a fellow worker a hand in lining up some roofing material, Strader stepped on a loose piece of roofing covered a hole. The roofing material slipped and Strader fell through the hole and 40 feet onto a pile of old brick on the ground below.

Told He Could Not Live

Critically injured, he was unconscious for days, paralyzed from the waist down, had only limited use of one arm and could not speak. He was given practically no chance to recover and remembers that many doctors who examined him told him frankly he couldn't live. "Six doctors who told me I had no chance to survive are now dead," Strader recalled recently.

Now he is a strong, healthy appearing man, with brawny arms and big chest, but still almost completely paralyzed in his legs.

But despite his latest misfortune Mr. Strader is a happy, cheerful man. A visit with him is an inspiration.

He also has an interest in current affairs, reads The Daily Register every day, and has a radio and TV in his room.

About five years ago a number of friends went together and purchased Mr. Strader a wheel chair and he enjoyed a tour of the Harrisburg business district, being wheeled around by an old friend.

And he was looking forward to attending tonight's Harrisburg Township high school commencement exercises and see his youngest daughter, Peggy Strader, graduate from the HTHS.

But a short time ago, turning over in bed, he broke his left leg and will have to miss graduation.

Decision is Announced by Wilson, Dulles

Congressmen
Protest Action;
Order Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. government today ordered Army Specialist William S. Girard turned over to a Japanese court for manslaughter trial.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said in a joint statement that to do otherwise "would create a situation which could basically affect U. S. relations, not only with Japan but also with many other nations."

They apparently referred to a similar case in Formosa, where a court-martial acquittal of an American sergeant who killed a Chinese touched off violent anti-American rioting.

Congressmen protested immediately.

Orders Congressional Hearing
Rep. Frank T. Bow (R-Ohio) accused Dulles and Wilson of "sacrificing" Girard "to satisfy the political and emotional demands of the Japanese."

Chairman Thomas S. Gordon (D-Ill.) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee ordered a full investigation and set hearings on the Girard case to start June 13.

Dulles and Wilson ruled that Girard, who shot and killed a Japanese woman picking up scrap metal on a U. S. firing range Jan. 30, was not acting on "authorized" orders.

They upheld a joint U. S.-Japanese committee in Tokyo which earlier had decided that Japan had legal jurisdiction over the case.

Wilson had delayed releasing the 21-year-old soldier to the Japanese for trial pending a thorough review of the facts.

The main issue was whether Girard's action occurred "on duty" and in performance of orders.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of things that he possesses.—Luke 12:15.

Recently a man who had an income of $115,000 a day died. He was called the Sad Millionaire. Seventy five millionaires committed suicide in one year. We knew a millionaire who said he had spent his life collecting ashes.

Spotlights concentrate light on people and objects which are to be the center of attention of observers. The extra light brings special notice to points of focus. Wherever the light shines, details stand out which would otherwise be overlooked. The spotlight gives added beauty and sparkle to the objects in its path of light.

When the light of God shines on people who choose His way through life we can see the glory of their lives. These same people might have been lost in their drab surroundings if they had not stepped into His light. The details of their lives become beautiful and significant.

It is not difficult to enjoy the added light of His countenance. It is more satisfying to walk in His way than it is to stumble along in the darkness or even semi-darkness. His light gives zest to living.

DREW PEARSON Says: Some GOP Senators Warned Against Tangle With Senator Morse. Federal Vacation Lands To Be Probed By Congress; Dictator Trujillo Is Under Investigation.

WASHINGTON. — Republican senators aren't advertising it, but before they decided to reprove Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon for comparing President Eisenhower with Dave Beck, they held a policy committee meeting. The White House had phoned to ask that Morse be answered, and leading GOP senators met to decide what to do.

Among others, they queried Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, stanch supporter of Ike's foreign policy.

"Do you think I'm crazy?" replied Wiley, when it was suggested that he make a speech. "You're a bunch of jackasses. You're just giving Morse an opening. He'll hang this right around your neck."

True to Wiley's prediction, Morse has now scheduled one full-dress Senate speech a week on "the morality of the Eisenhower administration."

VACATION LANDS

With summer vacations looming for millions of Americans, Congressman Carl Chudoff, Philadelphia Democrat, is starting a congressional probe of Eisenhower policy regarding recreation spots.

Specifically he is looking into the fact that the areas around the big dams and reservoirs owned by Uncle Sam, are no longer set aside for recreational purposes, but kept by private interests.

Harold Ickes, the old curmudgeon who served as Roosevelt's secretary of the Interior, and Oscar Chapman, his successor under Truman, acquired the land around federal waterways. Naturally when the government builds a dam or improves a waterway the land around it becomes more valuable, and the federal government took advantage of this increase.

Chudoff's preliminary probe, however, has found that on Oct. 12, 1953, nine months after Ike took office, this policy was changed.

He has also discovered that the U. S. Chamber of Commerce was the prime investigator of the change. It claimed that the public playgrounds around dams and reservoirs were "socialistic."

From October 1953, therefore, the Bureau of Reclamation and the Army Engineers have not purchased the land, but acquired "flowage easements" through land surrounding dams and reservoirs. Actually these easements cost about as much as the land would cost the taxpayers; little money was saved.

But here has been the result when it comes to vacation lands for the American public.

Three big federal reservoirs are under construction: Garrison in North Dakota, Fort Randall in South Dakota, and Oahe, which straddles the border between North and South Dakota. In all three cases the Army has been barred from acquiring title to surrounding land for use by the public.

Another result of the policy has been a flood of demands from former property owners who sold land to the government prior to 1953. They now want to buy their land back at bargain prices. Bills for this purpose have been introduced in Congress by Reps. Frank Icard (D., Tex.) and Phil Landrum (D., Ga.); also by Sens. Henry Dworshak (R., Idaho) and Strom Thurmond (D., S. C.).

DOMINICAN GO-ROUND

Congressman Brooks Hays of Arkansas today begins closed-door hearings on the bloody operations of the bloody dictator of the Dominican Republic. Here are some tips he might probe regarding a country founded on terror which has had the blessing of certain high-placed Americans. . . . The dictator himself is suave, charming, a master showman. He has beaten his daughter Angeleta so badly that she has required plastic surgery. His spies are everywhere. John Frank, the ex-FBI man now indicted by a federal grand jury, wired Trujillo's palace for sound so the dictator could listen to every word spoken in every room. . . . General Espallat, former Dominican consul in New York, now on the lam, is the man the State Department wants returned to the U. S. A. for questioning in the murder of Columbia University Professor Jesus De Galindez. Espallat is one of the rising young men among Trujillo's conspirators. The seven Dominicans who robbed the Royal Bank of Canada in Santiago could tell you how Espallat operates — if they were alive to tell the story. . . . Manuel De Moya, the ambassador who has arrived to become ambassador to the U. S. A. but whom the State Department doesn't want as ambassador, has handled many of Trujillo's large investments in the United States. His pay is high and he earns it.

Graduates are Bigger, Cap, Gown Industry Reports

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (U.P.) — June graduates' heads are getting bigger.

The nation's cap and gown industry reports this trend, without speculating whether the cause is cramming on food full of vitamins, or on food for thought.

Graduates also are taller, on the average.

"Matter of fact, we find the graduates are spreading both ways," reported one cap and gown manufacturer who didn't want his name used.

"This seems to apply to both boys and girls," he continued. "We now frequently measure gowns for high school seniors—boys—who are 6 feet 3 and 4."

"A cap size of 7 1/2 or 7 3/4 used to be a rarity . . . now both are commonplace," said H. B. Rudnick, vice president of Cox Sons and Vining Inc., a 120-year-old firm.

The industry reported more variety in color and fabrics in commencement attire. Otherwise, little change in the traditional robe, whose ancestry can be traced to medieval times.

"About the only modernization I can think of is in the addition of the zipper instead of hook-and-eye closing," said Mrs. Catherine Ciraci, of the New York office of the Collegiate Cap and Gown Co. Black remains a "must" for collegians, with a couple of exceptions. Rudnick said men receiving a doctorate at Yale may wear Yale blue, those receiving a doctorate at Harvard may wear the Harvard crimson.

It is at the high school level where such shades as royal, navy and powder blue, gray, maroon and white have moved in on the black, said Mrs. Ciraci.

Fabrics are lighter in weight, with nylon, chromspun, poplin and some new silks replacing wool and heavy cotton.

. . . Hector Trujillo, brother of the dictator, is official president of the Dominican Republic. His title is a paper one. He lives with his mother, is supposed to be very religious, has a 16-year acquaintance with the daughter of an ex-Marine sergeant who helps run the island. . . . Rafael Trujillo, son of the dictator, is chief of staff of the air force, a handsome, conceited, unattractive playboy, a great disappointment to his father, but great admirer of the love-making of Rubirosa. . . . Flora De Oro Trujillo, daughter of the dictator and a chip off the old block, is loud, booming, can swear and tell stories like her father.

These are a few of the weird cast of characters who have made the Dominican so-called republic one of the most terror-ridden places in the world, and have extended part of their terror to the U. S. A.

SUPER 88 CONVERTIBLE COUPE

See Jerry Lewis
NBC-TV, Saturday, June 8

Owner: Hi, neighbor! Drop that rake, and let's go for a ride in a real car!

Friend: Say... a convertible! And an Oldsmobile at that!

Owner: Hardly believe it myself. But this big, beautiful Super 88 gave me more for my money than any other car I looked at... and cost way less than you'd guess.

Friend: You've got a lot of car there, all right.

Owner: Wait 'til you see it from where I'm sitting. This upholstery is real leather. And the floors have door-to-door carpeting, front and rear.

Friend: How much extra did that cost?

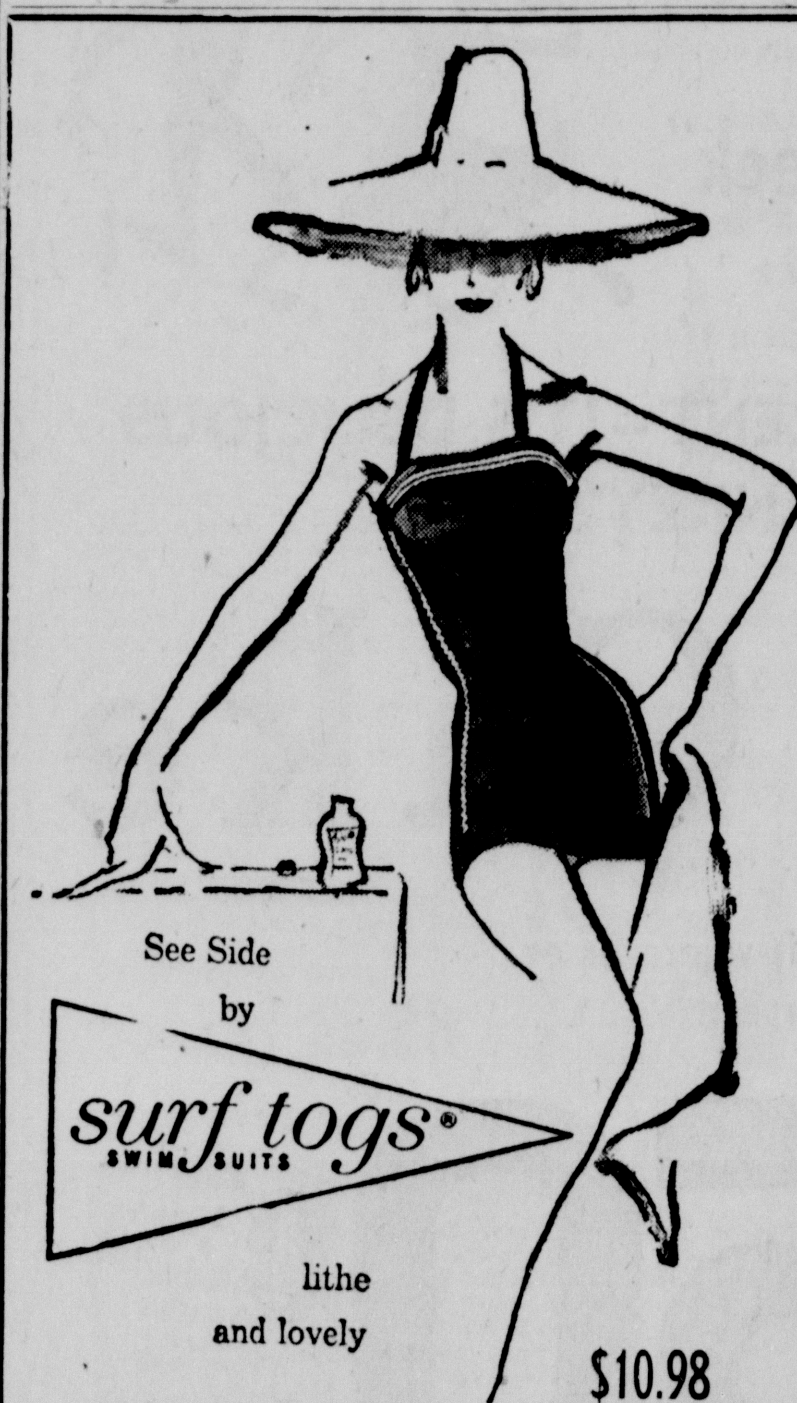

Owner: Not one cent. Standard equipment—just like the safety-padded dash, the foam rubber seats, and the dual exhausts. And, of course, the Rocket Engine*. I'm telling you, this Olds has everything. Want to try it?

Friend: Move over. I've been thinking about an Olds myself.

Owner: I'll bet you'll get one after you drive it! Let's go!

*Rocket T-400 Engine, with 277 h.p., standard on all models.

Britain Ready To Halt H-Tests After Third Blast

The sources said no more hydrogen bombs would be dropped in the test area near Christmas Island in the Pacific after the third explosion scheduled for some time this week.

British scientists reported that the two bombs dropped so far have been completely successful and that one more test will be sufficient to enable the data collected so far to be checked.

It was understood the original schedule called for at least six tests.

Order GI Turned Over To Japanese Court

ders. Such cases, under the U. S. Japan status of forces agreement, are subject to U. S. court-martial.

Wilson and Dulles ruled that the circumstances of the incident did not warrant reversal of the joint committee's decision that Japan had jurisdiction.

Girard has been indicted by the Japanese procurator on the least serious homicide charge in Japanese law, carrying a penalty of 2 to 15 years imprisonment if convicted.

Promise Full Protection

Dulles and Wilson pledged that the legal rights of the young Ottawa, Ill., soldier will be fully protected. They said American authorities will see "that all evidence is available to Girard and his counsel and will render every proper assistance to him and his counsel in protection of his rights."

They also said that in accordance with U. S. law the American government will pay for counsel chosen by Girard to defend him. They said under the U. S.-Japanese security treaty Girard will be guaranteed a prompt trial, the right to have counsel satisfactory to him, full information as to all charges against him, the right to confront witnesses and other rights of defendants in American trials.

Wilson and Dulles said Japanese civilians were in the maneuver area gathering empty brass cartridge cases at the time of the incident. The statement said the civilians had created such a risk that the American officer in charge withdrew live ammunition from the troops before afternoon exercises and ordered Girard and another soldier to guard a machine gun and field jackets between morning and afternoon exercises.

Say Action Not Authorized

While the two soldiers were guarding the equipment the fatal shooting of Mrs. Naha Sakai occurred. The Japanese contend that Girard "enticed" Mrs. Sakai onto the firing range by tossing empty shells in her direction and then shot her.

The Dulles-Wilson statement said the Japanese woman "was not over 30 yards away from Girard and was going away from him when he fired the rifle."

Wilson and Dulles said Girard's action in firing the empty shell cases "was not authorized."

Says Liking People
Makes Success of Painting

club. "I remember that it was a Hawaiian scene."

Pictures he is showing at Myrons are (1) A river in Indiana painted when the temperature was five below zero; (2) October, an oil in pastel colors; (3) Chicago buildings painted at North Michigan avenue and Randolph; (4) Portland Headlight in Maine; (5) Creek in the snow; (6) Lake in Florida; (7) Old covered bridge; (8) Ridge Road snow scene; (9) Grand Canal in Venice; (10) Old house in Smokies; (11) Road to Gatlinburg in Smokies; (12) Gloucester Bay; (13) Paris street scene; and (14) Rural scene in Indiana.

After the family returns from Mexico, Hancock must get busy on a commission of 300 murals for one food chain company in Indiana and Ohio, telling the story of food in pictures. He estimated it would take him between two and three years to do the work. He also is doing murals for school buildings at present.

Hancock said he has just completed a salon showing in Indianapolis, that this was his first venture with a showing, "because I usually sell my paintings before I can get up a collection."

He told of the trip he and his wife took to Europe in 1955, that before he left he had 18 pictures sold of what he would paint.

"My wife and I rented a French car and travelled through seven countries," he declared. "We had a wonderful time. I would paint the scenes the people back home wanted and when we were ready to return I had 24 paintings completed."

Switched to Landscapes

It was in Europe, he said, when he began doing a lot of water color work.

"Travelling like we were, I didn't have the time or the place for oils to dry," he said.

In answer to a direct question, Hancock said he had received from $35 to $500 for his work.

When he first started painting, he said, he did a lot of portrait work, but switched to landscapes "because landscapes take care of the whole family."

In concluding, he said "artists and musicians are lucky."

Why?
"Because they can make a name for themselves without spending a lot of money. They don't have to pay for anything. Everybody is backing them and everything they work with is free."

In a city of 25,000 population, 110 persons will be under treatment for cancer this year, 66 of them new cases.

Loren E. Kerley, 22, husband of Vera Kerley and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Weaver Kerley of Simpson, died Saturday afternoon of injuries received in an automobile accident. He was stationed in New Orleans, La., where he was with the U. S. Navy.

The body will be received by the Murrie funeral home in Vienna and will lie in state there. Funeral plans are incomplete.

Mayor Fires 2
From Mt. Vernon
Airport Board

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (U.P.)—Two members of the Mount Vernon Airport Authority were fired Monday night by Mayor Virgil T. Bailey, who said the men had voted to award contracts to firms with which they were affiliated.

Fired were C. E. Brehm, oil producer and businessman, and Frank Smoot, an engineer.

"As long as I am mayor of Mt. Vernon, flagrant contracting between members of the board and their employees and employers will not be tolerated," Bailey said.

Bailey said Brehm and Smoot had voted to award a conditional sales contract for purchase of a $2,895 tractor for the airport from a firm owned by Bailey.

He said planning work for a new hangar at the airport was done by a firm which employs Smoot. He said Brehm was connected with a firm which was awarded the construction contract.

Bailey added that the accepted bid was $2,166 higher than the low bid.

Smoot said today the low bid was not a legal one because the bidder had not submitted a bid bond. He also said the successful bidder lost $1,500 on construction of the airport.

"There was no attempt at collusion," Smoot said, adding that the board did not want to award the bid to the low bidder because it would have employed out-of-town labor.

Smoot said members of the board served without pay even

Runaway West
Frankfort Youth
Found Near Home

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill. (U.P.)—A search for a runaway high school freshman ended Monday night when authorities found the youth hiding in a warehouse four blocks from home.

Louis Isaacs, 15, left home Monday after leaving his mother a note which said: "I'm going to Virginia to see if I can find Dad." He had not seen his father in five years.

Authorities said the youth planned to set out early today for Virginia with two friends.

At Hopewell, Va., Louis Cyril Isaacs, a pipefitter, said he would be "tickled to death" to see his son.

The youth's parents were divorced in 1948 and both have remarried.

Britain Ends Ban
On Dollar Spending

LONDON (U.P.)—The government announced today the end of the austerity measure which has prevented British tourists from freely visiting the United States and other dollar-area countries since World War II.

The termination of Britain's ban on dollar spending was announced in the House of Commons by Chancellor of the Exchequer Peter Thorneycroft.

He said that tourists will be allowed to use up to 100 pounds ($280) a year in the dollars areas from now to the end of October.

though they are allowed up to $150 a month by law.

Brehm is head of the tri-state Independent Oil Producers and Land Owners Assn.

Mt. Vernon City
Workers Offered
Increase in Pay

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (U.P.)—A strike of city employees here was averted today with union acceptance of a 10 per cent across-the-board pay increase offered by the city.

The employees of the streets, park, garbage, and sewer departments had sought a 15 per cent pay raise, but voted to accept 10 per cent retroactive to May 1.

The 10 per cent across the board raise was offered, retroactive to May 1, to employees seeking 15 per cent. Union Steward Robert Dethrow said that a meeting of union members would "probably" be held to consider the city's offer.

The strike was threatened Monday morning, but was postponed until the meeting of the city council Monday night when the wage increase was offered.

Mayor Virgil T. Bailey said the present wage of the employees is $277 a month.

15 German Army
Recruits Die
In Death March

KEMPTEN, Germany (U.P.)—Federal Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss today took over personal command of the investigation into the deaths of 15 German army recruits in a death march into the swirling Iller River.

Strauss drove here from Rott am Inn where he is to be married later today.

German newspapers were quick to note the similarity to the death march at the U. S. Marine Corps Parris Island base 14 months ago

House Warned
Of Work Load

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.)—Rep. Robert L. Burhans (R-Peoria) said he would postpone his fight, scheduled for today, to override a veto by Gov. William G. Stratton.

Burhans made the announcement after House Speaker Warren L. Wood warned members that they still have a mountain of bills to act on with less than a month remaining in the session.

Wood told members to "bring an extra shirt" with them next week because the backlog of work probably would mean the House would have to meet next Friday instead of ending its week on Thursday as usual.

Burhans said the crowded House calendar and backlog of work were his reasons for delaying a vote on his motion to override the veto. He said he might ask for a vote Wednesday.

Burhans is sponsor of a bill that would have made parents financially liable up to $300 for malicious damage caused by their children. The bill was vetoed about two weeks ago.

Alcorn Tells Ike
GOP Has Trouble
Raising Funds

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn told President Eisenhower today that the party was having trouble raising campaign funds because Republicans "in many regions" thought his fiscal 1958 budget was too high.

Alcorn added, however, that this attitude was modified somewhat by Eisenhower's recent public addresses defending his big budget requests.

Alcorn submitted a detailed report on six regional Republican meetings.

On the optimistic side, he reported evidence that "there will be Republican gains in 1957-58 in Republican governorships and . . . reasonable gains in Congress."

He said Eisenhower was ready to play "a vital role" in the 1958 House and Senate races. But Alcorn did not outline the extent to which Eisenhower intends to participate in the campaign.

The Rare Adventure by BERNARD FERGUSON

XXXI
De la Meziere was adamant that in no circumstances would he let Allan and Georges go ashore unescorted.

"I agree with you," he said, "that in this unexpected defection of the cleverest of the Fernanas, and in the fortunate presence of yourself and the prestige of your name, we have two great advantages which I never thought to have. We must not risk losing them. My first task is to restore law and order. This is a French responsibility, and I cannot pass it on to you, however ready you may be to take the risk."

When Allan reappeared ten minutes later, shaved and fresh, Georges Fernana would broadcast an agreed manifesto to his compatriots; and the troops would be landed under cover of the frigate's guns. The presence of Allan and his position as the ultimate chief of Al Merhametsiz himself were to be emphasized; and Allan would be afforded ostentatious and ceremonious attention by the French, such as would be due to an esteemed native potentate.

"Afterward," said de la Meziere, "I give you my word that I am confident of the support of my superiors for anything within reason."

The appeal was skillfully phrased. The honor of the Seknougaïs and of the French were equally safeguarded without loss of face on either side.

He addressed a personal appeal to Camille, but allowed it to be understood that he had little hope of his accession. To Jules he spoke with a mixture of affection and respect, as became a younger brother, but as one who was sure of his agreement and approval. He spoke also to Ruhi and to Said and to one or two others by name, reminding them of incidents of the past, and skillfully conjuring up suggestions that these latest developments had been foreseen by them all long since; that there had long been secret aspirations common to them, barely spoken, barely whispered, but understood privately nevertheless; and that the presence and blessing of Larg of Larg had lifted the seal from them, and let in the sunlight. Larg was coming among them, and bringing them the promise of the restoration of former greatness.

He finished, but de la Meziere said, "Just add one thing: that Colonel Larg of Larg, accompanied by Colonel de la Meziere and yourself, will be coming ashore in a few minutes, and wish to meet in peace and friendship the leaders of the Seknougaïs. They should meet us down on the beach, unaccompanied by their men." There was dead silence from the shore, and nothing to show what effect, if any, Georges' words had had upon the Seknougaïs. But as the boats closed in upon the narrow strip of muddy beach, 800 yards from their starting point, nobody could help but wonder whether they were heading in to danger.

They heard footsteps. Hesitantly, from out of a shadowed alley running down to the beach, came two or three figures, followed by several more; at the same moment, from high up on the hillside, they heard the unexpected sound of a motor-car starting up. Among the group approaching the beach, Allan could discern the broad shoulders and handsome head of Jules, standing a good six inches higher than the other men about him, with his khaki bush shirt contrasting with the white clothes of his companions.

"Also Ruhi ben Ishak and Said Mourali," said Georges softly. "And Emin Arnaout, and Shimoun ben Shimoun, and others."

The little group of Seknougaïs leaders was awaiting them uncertainly. It was Jules Fernana who detached himself the first. He was without his usual smile as he walked forward toward Allan, but his walk was resolute; and when he reached him he knelt on the sand and kissed Allan's hand, to Allan's deep embarrassment. Then he rose and shook hands with de la Meziere; and lastly he stepped across to his brother Georges, and embraced him warmly. Georges reciprocated, and the two brothers hugged each other and broke into a babble of smiling talk in Berber. After Jules came Ruhi ben Ishak and the rest, each doing obeisance to Allan before shaking hands with de la Meziere.

The handful of French troops were standing to attention, but by no means strictly so; their eyes were expressive of the astonishment with which they beheld the strange British officer, who had arrived so oddly on board their ship, as if he were their sultan. Allan himself could hardly believe that the slender combination of his own lineage and Georges' eloquence had so speedily produced the collapse of the Seknougaïs revolt.

Jules made a little speech: "Colonel Larg, I am happier than I can say that matters should be ending like this. From the moment that I heard that you were coming to Seknou, I had the feeling that a new day was dawning for us here; and now I know it."

Stratton to Speak at Dedication Of Men's Residence Project at SIU

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Governor William G. Stratton will deliver the main address when Southern Illinois University's new Thompson Point men's residence project is dedicated in ceremonies here June 16.

Three of six residence halls and a central dining hall-student service building are now completed in the lakeside-area project south of the main SIU campus. Three other halls will be finished during the summer and five others are scheduled for construction when funds become available. The project has been partially financed by a $3,355,000 Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency loan, largest in the agency's history.

E. G. Lentz, university professor emeritus, will deliver the invocation. Morris Kukler, Okaville telephone company manager and a former international director of Lions International, will talk on "A Parent Looks at Thompson Point," and Jack Saylor, West Frankfort, will give a student's view of the development. Other remarks will be made by State Senator R. G. Crisenberry, Murphysboro, and State Representative Paul Powell, Vienna. A high point of the ceremonies will be the setting and dedication, by the Governor, of a bronze plaque near the entrance to the dining hall building.

Delyte W. Morris, president of SIU, will preside at the program which will begin at 2:30 p. m. (CST) in the dining hall building. It will be followed by an open house in the dining hall and residence hall No. 4, from 3:30 to 4:30 p. m.

The Thompson Point units, each accommodating 120 men, are unique in that traditional double-hung corridor design was discarded in favor of a "lounge-living area" fronting all rooms on each floor. Each building includes a classroom facility and resident counselor's apartment. Beach and recreational facilities will be available when Thompson Lake is refilled. The lake was drained for dredging and cleaning.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT To 59th DISTRICT
By Representative
GORDON E. KERR

Temper and politics are showing up strongly in the past few weeks of the session. Recently Republican Majority leader John Lewis took exception of an editorial in the Springfield paper, which accused Gov. Stratton and Mayor Daley of Chicago of making a deal to increase the State police force. Lewis denied that any deal was made and promised to vote against any diversion of gas tax funds to help Chicago. Rep. Lucas, democrat of Springfield apparently angry tore into Lewis and the Administration. All this was the results of the Chicago democrats after voting against the increase, changing and all voting for. Actually my opinion is that no deal was made, but I certainly will not vote for giving the Bus Company of Chicago any of the Gas tax money and I am of the opinion that all other downstate legislators will vote against such a move.

More Money for Schools?

The members of the General Assembly are being flooded with letter from school people requesting more appropriations. The School Problems Commission has recommended more money for the common school fund than is in the budget. I have always supported the Commission, realizing they make a continual study of schools and knowing the enrollment is up, it is my opinion that more money will be found. In a meeting with Gov. Stratton last week he told the school delegation that he would promise to maintain the present level for the next two years.

Old Age Assistance and the Blind

Bills are introduced that will make it much harder to get State assistance in all programs. More restrictions would be placed on the older people and the blind. These Bills are the results of an investigating committee, whose purpose is to find out why Public Welfare costs so much in Illinois. It would be normally wrong to take anything away from these people or to place any more restrictions on them. We will strongly oppose such a move. With the cost of living at an all time high, it seems impossible that a person can live on what they are now getting. We in the Legislature know where the high cost is. It is in Chicago where 3,000 people a month are moving in from other states and being taken care of by Chicago Welfare. This week the House passed a Bill that will allow not less than $1 per day for food, for those on old age assistance.

Lower Age Limits for Children Benefits of Veterans

I have introduced and passed the House a Bill that will give benefits to children going to school, whose father was killed in service. Formerly the age limit was 14 years. If this Bill is signed it will be at age 8. Any widow of a serviceman killed in service should contact their Illinois Service Officer after July 1st.

Safety Legislation

The speed limit and increased Police Bills have passed both Houses and will go into effect July 1st. However the limit will be changed. It appears now that the limit will be 65 for cars, 60 for busses, 55 for small trucks and 50 for large trucks. The limit will be the same day or night. The drivers training program has passed. This will give the schools $30 for each student that takes the course and passes.

The bill to help the small counties, sponsored by McCormick, Powell and I has passed the House. Senator Jones is sponsoring the bill in the Senate. This bill will give the counties a higher levy for a period of three years only. In our district this bill will affect only four counties, Johnson, Hardin, Pope and Gallatin.

If the present egg Bills become law you can expect to pay more for eggs. These bills will require that all eggs from the time gathered shall be stored in a place not over 60 degrees. Also there will be no ungraded eggs. The aim of the bill is to improve the quality of eggs and bring a higher price to the producer. These bills will put the small egg buyers out of business. These bills have passed the House but are in trouble in the Senate.

Judicial reform is still uncertain. A Committee of lawyers cannot agree on it.

By a very close vote the House sent a resolution to the U. S. Congress, asking them to reverse the trend of federal aid programs.

Gay Brewer Leads U. S. Open Qualifiers; Snead is Happiest

NEW YORK — National scoring honors went to Gay Brewer of Cincinnati but the happiest of 142 qualifiers for the U. S. Open championship today was 45-year-old Samuel Jackson Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

A couple of hours before Brewer posted a spectacular 67-66-133 at Cincinnati, Snead took the first step in his long crusade to win the elusive Open crown Monday when he tied Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., for the lead in the toughest of 24 trials across the nation with a 69-72-141 at White Plains, N. Y. Now he can breathe easily until the Open begins to unwind at Toledo's Inverness Club on June 13.

"You got to get in before you can think about winning," said Snead, who has been runner-up three times and tied for second once in the only major tournament he never has won.

The 142 who qualified Monday joined 19 exempt players headed by defending champion Cary Middlecoff, PGA champ Jackie Burke and British Open champion Peter Thomson in the starting field at Inverness along with Hawaiian Ted Makalena, who qualified at Honolulu on May 27.

Nelson Fails To Qualify

Byron Nelson, 1939 Open champion, picked up after one round at Dallas, Tex., and Don January also failed there. Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla., missed at White Plains, Bos Rosburg of San Francisco and the veteran Lawson Little (1940 winner) failed at San Francisco. Marty Furgol of Utica, N. Y., and Paul Harney of Bolton, Mass., missed at Cleveland while Al Bessink of Grossinger, N. Y., and Skee Riegel of Villanova, Pa., were casualties at Philadelphia.

At White Plains, Gene Littler of Palm Springs, Calif., barely made it at 148 without being forced into a playoff with amateur Elliott Simpson of Bronxville, N. Y., who had 147, withdrew. Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., slipped in by winning a five-way playoff for the 11th place at Cincinnati.

Gerry Kesselring of Toronto, Ont., with 64-70-134 at Buffalo and Pat Schwab of Dayton, 65-69-134 at Cincinnati, were Brewer's closest pursuers for the nationwide lead.

George Fazio of Clementon, N. J., led the Philadelphia section with 67-69-136. Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill., led the tough trial at Cleveland with 69-67-136.

Worsham Makes It

Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., winner in 1947, led the Pittsburgh section with 138 and Bob Prall of Eugene, Ore., with 72-66-138 at Portland, led the amateurs nationally.

Following Snead and Mayer safely into the starting field by qualifying easily at White Plains were Jimmy Demaret, Mike Fitchick, Gene Sarazen, Fred Hawkins, Tommy Bolt and Mike Souchak.

Shelley Mayfield and Vic Ghezzi qualified at another New York site. Ed (Porky) Oliver made it at Marion, Mass., while Frank Stranahan, Walter Burkemo and Chick Harbert ran one-two-three among 12 qualifiers at Detroit. Roberto de Vicenzo of Mexico City finally qualified by leading the Dallas section with 142.

Gardner Dickinson, George Bayer, Lloyd Mangrum, 1946 winner, and Bo Winger made it at Cleveland.

And Sam Park Jr., who won at Oakmont, Pa., in 1935, failed to qualify at Pittsburgh.

'Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

Darwin Valter

Monday about noon Darwin Valter, the Ridgway native who coached at Shawneetown high school two years ago, came by The Register office for a visit. During the conversation he mentioned that he was returning to Shawneetown as coach this coming school term.

Two seasons ago Valter coached the Shawneetown Indians through the regular season undefeated, grabbed championship honors in the annual Equality Invitational and Greater Egyptian tournaments, took the championship of the regional tourney and the Indians were odds-on favorites to take the sectional title.

But in the opening game of the sectional, played in Harrisburg, Shawneetown was upset by a fine Carmi team.

For the past year Valter has been away from coaching, attending law school in Texas.

But coaching is still "in his blood" and when he heard there was a vacancy at Shawneetown he made application and was accepted.

Two years ago Valter had tip-top material and made the team into a winner. This coming season the basketball material at Shawneetown is expected to be about average for a school of its size.

But Valter indicated that was a determining factor in his desire to return.

He said "I had the material two years ago. I want to see what I can do with material that doesn't stand out from other material in the conference."

The coaching situation in Galatin county high schools seems set for the 1957-58 year. Bob Dallas will return to Ridgway, Tony Franc is staying at Equality, where it is understood he will also be the school's principal and Valter will be at Shawneetown.

Welcome back, Coach Valter!

The last two "ends-of-school" have been unusual ones for Claude Shelton, coach at Metropolis high school.

As the 1955-56 school year drew to a close Shelton, then at Carrier Mills, saw his great basketball player, Oliver Rollins, pursued by practically every college coach in the midwest—and then the professional Harlem Globetrotters entered the picture and Rollins took the money.

Shelton was real busy giving Rollins the benefit of his experience and advice, and watched him ink the Globetrotter contract.

That is an experience many coaches don't have.

Now this year the Rollins' incident has been pushed far into the background.

Shelton coached the Metropolis high school baseball team this season to a 13-1 record and on the team was Bob Taylor, called by many as the "best high school prospect I ever saw."

Taylor, a catcher, signed a bonus contract with Milwaukee early Saturday morning, receiving an amount in the neighborhood of $100,000, plus a salary contract that must be in the $5,000 or $6,000 class.

Taylor, watched by scouts for all four years of his high school career according to reports, played only one year under Shelton, so the high school coach probably had little—if any—part in advising Taylor.

But just the same, as coach he knew one of his boys was playing every inning under the watchful eye of one or more big league scouts and the pressure must have been terrific for Taylor.

And I wonder what effect the big league scouts had on other members of the Metropolis high school team.

Every boy on the team must love the game and every lover of the game dreams of being a big leaguer.

Seems only natural that every Metropolis high school player this season tried just a little harder and maybe "showed off" a little, hoping to attract attention to themselves.

Yep, must have been quite a season for Shelton—a real topper to the one he had last year at Carrier Mills.

Podres Limits Phillies to Three Hits as Dodgers Win, 4-0; Pirates Beat Giants

By United Press

Johnny Podres of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who claims he can "beat those blankety-blank Yankees any day of the week," is acting just as tough these days with the boys in his own National League backyard.

Released from the Navy last year because of a chronic back ailment, there was some question at the start of the current campaign whether the blond southpaw could recapture the form that baffled the Yankees in the 1955 World Series.

Podres admits his back still is troubling him but he's also giving the rival hitters a pain in the neck.

Proved Real Stopper

Dodger Manager Walt Alston, slightly alarmed over a budding four-game losing streak, called on Podres Monday night to face the surprising Philadelphia Phillies. Johnny proved to be a real "stopper" as he limited the Phillies to three measly singles in posting a 4-0 shutout victory.

Although he admitted afterward, "My arm got stiff in the fourth inning and I couldn't snap off my curve ball," Podres struck out nine men in posting his fourth shutout of the campaign and his fifth victory against two defeats.

Gil Hodges also had a big hand in the Dodgers' victory, which moved the defending N. L. champs into a third place tie with Milwaukee, three games back of pace-setting Cincinnati. The husky first baseman broke a scoreless tie with his sixth home run of the season in the fifth inning, tallied again in the seventh on Don Zimmer's two-out single and scored the Dodgers' final run in the ninth on a wild pitch by Philadelphia reliever Jim Hearn.

Cimoli Gets Homer

Gino Cimoli also homered for the Dodgers, who collected nine hits off loser Don Cardwell and Hearn. It was Cardwell's second setback against three victories.

In Monday's only other major league game, Hank Foiles drove in two runs with a triple and a single to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 6-5 victory over the New York Giants. Eight of the Pirates' last nine games have been decided by one run.

Junior Legion to Play McLeansboro Wednesday Night

The Junior American Legion baseball team of Harrisburg, scheduled to open its season Sunday at Metropolis, will open under the Harrisburg lights Wednesday night instead.

The Sunday tilt against the Metropolis Junior Legion nine was rained out. Wednesday night McLeansboro will come to Harrisburg for a contest under the lights of the VFW park. Game time is eight o'clock.

Jerry King is slated to pitch for Harrisburg with either Ray Hasset or John Wathern behind the plate.

Bleacher, Pavilion Seats for All-Star Game on Sale June 9

Five thousand bleacher and pavilion seats for the major league All-Star game, to be played at Busch Stadium in St. Louis on Tuesday, July 9, will be placed on public sale at the stadium next Sunday (June 9), it was announced today by Red Bird Ticket Supervisor Nat Hall.

The 5,000 tickets represent the last remaining seats for the game. They include 2,600 pavilion seats, which are priced at $2.50 each, and 2,400 bleacher seats, at $1.50 each.

These tickets will be sold through the Busch Stadium ticket windows on Dodier Street, beginning at 10 a. m. (Central Daylight Saving Time) next Sunday and lasting until all of these tickets are sold. Six windows will be open, each selling both bleacher and pavilion tickets. Only cash will be accepted, and a maximum limit of two tickets per customer will be imposed. No mail orders will be accepted.

Hall said the Sunday date and mid-morning starting time for the sale were selected so that the greatest number of people, including out-of-towners, would have an opportunity to be on hand to purchase tickets.

All other tickets for the game will be Sandusky, who tossed a no-hitter at the Bull Pups in a high school game.

An admission fee of 25 cents for all 16 years of age and over will be charged to help defray the expense of the power bill. Those younger will be admitted free of charge.

were previously sold through a mail order sale.

tween Stengel and myself is wholly untrue."

However, Weiss' statement served to minimize the Yankees' troubles rather than clarify them, since most of the fined players felt Stengel did not recommend such stiff penalties but was overruled by Weiss.

Stengel, who huddled several times with Washington Senators troubleshooter Charlie Dessen during the past week end, was at a meeting which included the fined players, Weiss and co-owners Dan Topping and Del Webb about a week after the night club fracas when the players learned they would be assessed for their after hours carousing.

However, neither Stengel nor the players knew how stiff the fines would be until the players, with the exception of Kucks, noticed a deduction of $1,000 from their bi-monthly checks last Saturday. Kucks, who doesn't earn anywhere near as much as the others, was fined $500.

The players most often mentioned as "trade bait" are Bauer and Martin, both of whom are coveted by Dessen. The Yankees, who dropped five of seven games during the last week to the Balti-

Rumor Yankees Will Trade Two Of 'Sinful Six'

NEW YORK — Reports that two of the New York Yankees' "sinful six" would be traded before the June 15 deadline popped up again today along with a front office statement that all was harmonious between General Manager George Weiss and Field Manager Casey Stengel.

The report of friction in the Yankees' front office followed a disclosure Monday that six players—Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra, Hank Bauer, Billy Martin, Whitey Ford and Johnny Kucks—had been fined a total of $5,500 for their night club antics on May 15.

Weiss, an astute judge of player talent best known for his lack of sentiment, declined at first to comment on the fines or his reported feud with Stengel, but later released a statement in which he said "reported friction be-monious between General Manager George Weiss and Field Manager Casey Stengel.

Staley Special June Offer:

Gift That Equals
$7-PER-TON SAVING
On Pro-Lass!

How Staley Dr. Pig and Pro-Lass

can help you put

50 lbs. Gain Per Month on Each Hog

Saves Weeks in the Feed-Lot!—Nearly Doubles Your Grain's Feeding Value!

Follow this complete Pro-Lass program, to save weeks of feeding time, while holding down your out-of-pocket costs. Staley Pro-Lass (without the help of the FREE Dr. Pig we're offering) provides you with a "speed-feeding" program. As some farmers put it: "Every 40 pounds of Pro-Lass turns into 50 pounds of pork, when fed with grain."

Here's another way to describe how Pro-Lass turns your grain into meat: Using grain alone, it takes 600 pounds to make 100 pounds of pork. But if you add only 40 lbs. of Pro-Lass to the ration, it takes only 300 pounds of grain to produce that 100 lbs. of pork! And the hogs take 4 weeks less to do that "eating and gaining."

When you add the extra efficiency you'll get by worming your hogs with our FREE GIFT supply of Dr. Pig, you should find Pro-Lass still more profitable.

See your Staley dealer now; arrange for your supply of the Pro-Lass that cuts your grain cost in half, and the FREE Dr. Pig, that means best feed efficiency and better health for your hogs.

How Staley's Fully-Automatic Mill MAKES LIQUID FISH SOLUBLES Most Valuable to You!

Every good feeder today knows a hog's ration is not complete unless it contains the vital liquid fish solubles—probably the most important source of the "unidentified" growth factors that can make such a big difference in fast weight gains. That's why so many feeders switch to Pro-Lass—the supplement that uses condensed fish solubles for the utmost efficiency.

But there's a big difference in how those fish solubles are put into the feed. It is very important that they be added in liquid form. And it takes complicated automatic machinery to do it; Staley is one of the very few mills in the country that has it.

The flow-chart above shows how, in Staley's automatic mills, these fish solubles and the other elements in Pro-Lass are mixed—so your hogs get the proper balance of the best growth-boosters in every mouthful they eat.
